The Jewish Wife

By Bertold Brecht

In Frankfurt in 1935, Judith Keith, the Jewish wife of a doctor, is packing. Soon it becomes apparent that she is fleeing Germany in the face of growing Nazi oppression in order to save her husband embarrassment and the probable loss of his position. Unable to face the truth, they bid farewell for "only a couple of weeks."

Directed by: Saul Elkin

Starring:

Megan Callahan & Tim Newell

The Duck Variations

By David Mamet

Two elderly men are sitting on a park bench having a discussion while watching ducks. They really know nothing about ducks but use what experience has taught them about law, friendship, and death to face the questions of life. By argument and occasional agreement a composite view of ducks, and by extension, the world, begins to emerge.

Directed by: Peter Palmisano

Starring:

Saul Elkin & Tim Newell
